

MRS. MATE JAY IS A SUICIDE

Wife of Will P. Jay, in a Fit of Despondency, Takes Her Life
in Chicago Hospital.

RECOVERY WAS EXPECTED

Intention Was to Bring Her Home in a Few Days Because of Her Hopeful Condition.

Mrs. Mate Powers Jay, age forty years, wife of Will P. Jay, 621 North Main street, committed suicide early last evening by hanging herself with the cord of a bath robe at the Presbyterian hospital in Chicago, where she had been taking treatment for a nervous trouble the last six weeks.

Will Jay and B. F. Miller left last night for Chicago shortly after receiving the death message and it is not known definitely when they will arrive back here with the body. It is thought that they may reach Rushville some time tonight. No funeral arrangements will be made until Mr. Jay returns.

The news of the death was a deep shock to the relatives and friends of Mrs. Jay because they were assured that she was rapidly recovering. Mr. Jay visited Mrs. Jay from last Friday until Monday evening and arrangements were then made for Mrs. Jay to be brought home in a few days. The rapidity of her recovery is indicated by the fact that she had been walking several miles a day.

Dr. Frank Billings, her personal physician said that he believed that all the treatment that would be needed to make her recovery complete could be administered at her home. The shock was all the greater because the family expected the circle to be completed once again.

Mrs. Jay had not been in her usual health for a long time, but the real cause of her ailment developed about a year ago when she suffered a nervous breakdown. She gradually grew worse until she was taken to the Presbyterian hospital for special treatment, Friday, September 19.

Chicago dispatches say that temporary insanity was assigned as the cause of her act by the physicians at the hospital. In a fit of despondency brought on by her continued ill health, it is believed Mrs. Jay took the cord from the bathrobe she wore, securely fastened it to the transom, tied one end around her neck and jumped off a chair.

The body was found suspended from the transom by her nurse, Miss Alice B. Robertson. Since Mrs. Jay had been at the hospital, Miss Robertson had been at her side almost constantly. After their customary walk yesterday afternoon, on the

EBBING CASE IS DISMISSED

Kuhn Fails to Show that Father is Not a Fit Person to Have Care of Child.

IS WARNED ABOUT DRINKING

Guardian Retains Property Interests
But Fails to Get Possession of Girl.

The case of Walter Kuhn, guardian of Lizzie Ebbing, against August Ebbing, demanding possession of the child, was dismissed late yesterday afternoon in juvenile court after most of the evidence had been heard. To get possession of the child again Kuhn attempted to show that Ebbing was not a fit person to have the care of the girl.

According to the court this was not shown and the dismissal comes as a victory for the father. The fight between Kuhn and the father of the child, August Ebbing had been a bitter one and more so since Ebbing was alleged to have "kidnapped" her on the afternoon of October 14, as she was on the way home from school. In dismissing the case Judge Megee warned Ebbing against drinking and told him that the child would be taken away from him if the court heard any complaints regarding him.

Walter Kuhn will remain guardian of the property interests of the child although there is a petition pending asking for his removal. This petition has not been heard and may be dropped now that the father has shown that he has a right to keep the girl. The petition asking for a writ of habeas corpus was dismissed after the court dismissed the case heard yesterday. The habeas corpus proceedings were the first filed after Ebbing is alleged to have "kidnapped" the child.

The petition asking for the removal of the guardian was filed by the attorneys for Ebbing. Besides these cases Kuhn, as guardian for Lizzie and Anna Ebbing has a partition suit in the circuit court here. In the complaint asking possession of the child Kuhn alleged that Mrs. Ebbing, who was formerly Ollie Larrimore, and was Ebbing's housekeeper before her marriage, was not a fit person to have the care of the child. Judge Megee thought that the child was old enough to know right from wrong and evidence was introduced to show that Mrs. Ebbing took an interest in the child. The surety of peace proceedings against Ebbing are also pending. It may be that all the cases will be dropped now that the child is permitted to remain with her father.

The case of Lewis Pate against Nellie Goddard, to foreclose a mechanics lien, demanding $250 was tried today by Judge Megee. Pate built a barn for Mrs. Goddard and alleges that the money is due him for labor. A lien was taken when he was unable to collect.

REMOVED TO JAIL.

The beer and whiskey taken in the raid on the Willis grocery last week was taken to the county jail this morning from the mayor's office. The booze will be kept there pending the outcome of the case in the circuit court.

SUN SHINES.

The sun was detected shining for two minutes on the south side of the court house this afternoon. Those who saw it were blinded. The next appearance of the sun is not scheduled.

SENTIMENT FOR REORGANIZATION

Business Men Feel That Horse Show
Would Regain its Lost Prestige in the County.

WOULD BETTER IT NEXT YEAR

Movement on Foot Now so That Contributors Can be Part or Organization. Close of Show.

There is reported to be a desire among the business men of Rushville to bring the horse show back up to the prestige it once held and to this end there is a movement on foot for the Elks to assume management of the show next year and invite the co-operation of business men who donate each year to help pay the premiums.

At the same time, it is the desire that the Elks hold a two-day carnival preceeding the show. Then following the two-day show the combination sale could be held.

Others have suggested that horse show week should be converted into a fall festival with the two-day horse show as an adjunct. Along with this could be made a display of home-made products, it is advocated, which would convert the week into one of general interest for the people of the whole city and county.

The horse show was a dismal failure this year from every angle. Of course, the very disagreeable weather contributed much to the failure of the show, but there seemed to be a general apathy among those who formerly took a very active interest in the event. The merchants did not seem to enter into the spirit of the show as they have in the past. This is best exemplified by their failure to make any attempts to decorate the city for the show.

There is a general feeling among the merchants of the city that the horse show, as it has been run, is taxation without representation. They believe that they ought to have something to say concerning the management since they help, with their money, to make the show possible.

The sentiment in the community is that there is a place for a horse in Rush county, far famed for its breeding of good horses of all classes.

There is no reason why Rushville should not have a horse show that would excell any held in Indianapolis. It is probable that the show will be put on a solid basis next year and that it will be for the best interests of the show and the city generally.

The program had to be called off last night because of the inclement weather. There was on tap an automobile parade and fireworks.

Prospects were bright for a successful combination sale when it opened today at noon. There were approximately a hundred horses entered in the sale. In addition there were several head of cattle and a number of hogs. A large consignment of harness, vehicles and lap robes was received from a Carthage livery stable.

The following awards were made at the show yesterday:

No. 34. Best Stallion four years old or over, Jess Oneal, second and Cass Johnson first.

No. 36. Best Stallion two years old and under three, Cass Johnson first and J. Gibson second.

No. 37. Best Stallion one year old and under two Cliff Brown second.

UNCONSCIOUS, IS FOUND IN STREET

Marshall Percy, Following Hallowe'en Social, Believed to Have Suffered Heart Attack.

NO EVIDENCE OF COLLISION

Marshall Pearcey, 220 North Spencer street, fell from a bicycle, overcome by overexertion, at the corner of Main and Fifth streets last night and sustained slight injuries. He suffered a severe attack of the heart just after he had exerted himself considerably in pedaling the bicycle up the Main street hill.

Mr. Pearcey had been attending a masked social given by the Sunday school classes of the Rev. and Mrs. C. M. Yocum at the Main Street Christian church and was returning after going home to remove his masquerade apparel. Since he has been subject to heart attacks, it is presumed that he suffered one at the top of the hill as he does not remember of having collided with a vehicle. Mr. Pearcey was hauled home unconscious by Drs. Frank H. Green and H. V. Logan in an automobile. He was able to be up today but could not return to his duties at the Innis, Pearce & Company furniture factory.

—Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Jamieson of Monmouth, Illinois, came yesterday evening for a visit with the Rev. and Mrs. A. W. Jamieson and will remain over Sunday. Mr. Jamieson is a brother of the United Presbyterian pastor.

GOBLINS TO BE ABROAD FRIDAY

Shop Window Displays Presage Coming of Hallowe'en Night, Time
For Spooks.

MANY EVENTS ANNOUNCED

Police, as Usual, Will Attempt to Stop Hoodlumism, But Will Not Prevent Fun.

Hallowe'en night, annual time for spooks and goblins, is approaching with stealthy tread. It is timed to arrive Friday and the shop windows presage its coming for these many days. The young folks hardly need be warned of its approach, but the grownups might forget to take in their gates and their cement steps.

Enterprising store keepers have filled their shop windows this week with exhibits of paraphernalia appropriate to the occasion. Black cats and witches run riot over the pumpkins and autumn leaves and masks. Some of the window displays are almost as terrifying as the occasion itself is supposed to be.

Ghosts and goblins and loud noises and fun are all harmless and if Hallowe'en is observed without anything worse than these nothing will be said by the powers that be.

The police say they will interfere with no one so long as property and personal rights were respected. If the crowds want to come on down town and parade, they may. If they want to tear down fences and deface buildings they may not. If any property is damaged the police will do their best to round up the guilty parties and see that they receive due punishment.

A number of parties are already proposed for Friday night. The usual Hallowe'en programs are being arranged. There is no big Hallowe'en ball of a general character arranged, but there will be a number of dances which will attract the young people. The L. A. of A. O. H. will give a Hallowe'en dance this evening at the Modern Woodman hall. A masked ball will be given at the Woodman hall Friday evening.

Chiefly, however, Hallowe'en has now become a time of social diversion, in which the old, weird, witchery of two hundred years back is still the dominant and the most delightful note. The fearful joys of escape from goblins and the powers of ill still live in the subliminal corner of the minds, if not in the wide-awake consciousness, and the old idea still holds sway in most of the social doings of Hallowe'en.

Fire Insurance Rates Will Be Raised If Evils Aren't Corrected

Engineers Were Here and in Survey of Situa- tion Found Protection of Property at a Very Low Ebb.

It is a well known fact that the fire insurance companies doing business here will increase the fire insurance rates—perhaps double them—if the errors which have been committed at the city water and light plant the last few months are not rectified.

It is a well known fact that the life insurance companies have had engineers here and that they have made a very careful survey of the whole local situation, that they have filed a report of their findings which show that the fire protection in Rushville is at a low ebb and that the companies are only waiting a very few months to see if the conditions which brought on the poor fire protection are corrected.

This is a subject which comes home to every property owner in Rushville. The property owner does not care to have his property in jeopardy. Neither does he care to have his insurance rates doubled. He should remember, when he goes to the polls next Tuesday, that such a condition never existed or was not hinted when the Republicans were in charge of the affairs of the city of Rushville.

The Republican party in this campaign stands on its record for its efficient management of the business of the city. No effort has been made to refute any figures which have been quoted from the records to show that the last Republican administration, by its economical methods and good business judgment, built up the water and light plant to its high state of efficiency and prevented the occurrence of any conditions such as now exist.

The real facts concerning the deplorable condition into which the water and light plant had fallen under the few months' management of Mayor Black's appointee were not developed until the fire which destroyed the Masonic Temple and Frank Capp's residence. The investigation which was held to place the blame for the fire, revealed the incompetency which existed and still exists in many departments of the city government.

Mayor Black ordered Engineer Stewart Beale to remain at the central fire station all night, which implied that the fire engine was to be used in case of fire. Such orders were understood at the plant, it developed, but they were never transmitted to the acting fire chief.

When the fire broke out, instead of

SCOUTS THE THEORY OF RITUAL MURDER

Eminent Russian Surgeon Testifies In Bellis Defense.

Kieff, Oct. 30.—Called to testify at the trial of Mendell Bellis, the Jew accused of having murdered the Christian boy Yuschinsky to obtain Christian blood for ritualistic purposes, the medical experts were in direct conflict regarding the motive for the murder.

More than a dozen physicians were ready to take the stand. Twenty-one questions were asked, all with the object of bringing out whether the wounds in the boy's body were inflicted only for the purpose of drawing blood or solely for the purpose of killing him. Drs. Kozorotoff and Tutanoff, for the prosecution, held that the wounds were not mortal; that the boy lived for a quarter of an hour, bleeding profusely, and that he was finally stabbed three times in the heart, the object of the murderers obviously being to drain his blood and inflict pain.

Drs. Kadian and Pavloff, for the defense, ridiculed this theory. Dr. Pavloff, who is a military surgeon, said the information upon which it was based was hopelessly inadequate and contradictory. The police, he said, removed the boy's body to a cave, no physician being present at the time; the boy's heart had been squeezed when removed and then placed in a chemical solution so that it was impossible to say what amount of blood had remained in it. It also was impossible, he said, to say what wounds were inflicted before death or after death, but it was certain that they were hurriedly inflicted, showing that the object of the criminals was not to obtain blood.

Dr. Kadian, one of the most eminent surgeons in Russia, indorsed the view of Dr. Pavloff. He impressed the court by his testimony. He demonstrated how the wounds were probably inflicted by common criminals, holding the boy and dealing rapid blows.

All the experts agreed that there were two murderers.

BOLD GAME FOR PRISON PARDON

Latest Development In the Sulzer Case.

A BARGAIN WITH STILWELL

Detective Burns Makes Revelation of the Conversation Recorded by a Detaphone in the Office of Sing Sing Prison When an Alleged Bargain Was Being Struck For Former Senator's Pardon.

New York, Oct. 30.—Extracts are printed by the Sun from the stenographic report taken from the detaphone used at the interview at Sing Sing prison between Stephen J. Stilwell, Colonel William N. Amory, Charles H. Unversagt, Frank Stilwell, brother of the former senator, and State Senator Gladhill of Brooklyn.

The full report was revealed by William J. Burns immediately upon his return from Europe. It was in the interest of public morals as a contribution to clear up an entanglement arising out of the stump assertions of John A. Hennessy and William Sulzer that revelations will be made which would shake many Democratic political leaders from their thrones.

The significant part of the interview, which was on Aug. 23, are: First—Neither Stilwell nor his friends had any idea of presenting to Governor William Sulzer any confession which would be more than a vague uncorroborated statement.

Second—The object was to get a promise that the full confession was to be delivered the moment Stilwell received liberty.

Third—Neither Unversagt nor Amory nor Warden James M. Clancy, who was in and out of the room during the interview, appear to have known of this phase of the case, but upon the face of the report were acting honestly.

Fourth—The conversation on this phase of the case appears to have been wholly between Stilwell and Senator Gladhill.

Fifth—The pardon was to have been dated Aug. 12 in order that it might appear to have been signed the day previous to the impeachment of Governor Sulzer by the assembly on Aug. 13, so that there might not be any action by Democrats or by Governor Sulzer himself toward rescinding the pardon after he found that he had been tricked.

Appeared to Be In Despair.

According to the report, when the session began in the warden's office of Sing Sing prison the afternoon of Aug. 23, Unversagt and Amory appeared to be in despair. They seemed to think that the efforts to pardon Stilwell were in vain. Stilwell entered at this time and asked for some person, presumably the governor, who was believed to have taken a midnight ride to Ossining from Albany. Stilwell wanted to know about his pardon Unversagt explained as follows:

"The situation is briefly this: We have got to effect an understanding. It is up to you to strike this bargain. It is up to you to decide. You ought to understand that. I went up to the governor. I told him plainly what you wanted; that I did not want any monkey business; that I would not stand for it, and if there was nothing coming from it all I wanted to know was whether to continue or not and that the matter would be kept strictly confidential."

The conversation that followed showed that Unversagt and his friends had spoken to the governor and others in Albany about the plan to pardon Stilwell on condition that he (Stilwell) make a confession. The succeeding conversation was as to how the pardon was to be delivered and the confession turned in and as to possibility of trouble from a pardon issued by Governor Sulzer, then under charges, and what possible action could be taken, at the conclusion of which Stilwell said:

"Well, they were to go from here and write it all out and come down this afternoon. I told them unless I got a pardon I would call it all off. I don't want to monkey any further with it."

Then says the record significantly, "there was a whispered conversation, the transmission of which was lost," the conclusion of which was:

Gladhill—"You're a wonder—few could do it."

Frank Stilwell enters soon after this and greets his brother, after which he is introduced to the senator. Thereafter comes the conversation which reveals the purpose back of the entire proceeding on Stilwell's part. The three men evidently were expecting the arrival of some persons from Albany, who were to bring the pardon.

Agonies of Gout.

An English nobleman in a London club one evening gave some of his fellow members a picturesque description of the gout.

"You lie in bed," he said, "with the gouty food stretched out, and you feel as though the sole of it was pressed against the bars of a redhot fire. In the middle of the furnace is a fellow with a gun loaded to the muzzle with redhot needles. Presently he fires the gun at your foot, and you feel the redhot needles travel up your leg and come out at the knee, not all at once, but like the animals that went into the ark, two by two. When the last couple of needles have finished the course you find yourself sweating with fear and wondering how long it will be before the fellow fires the gun again. Presently you find he is under contract to fire it every five minutes, and you get ready for the discharge, but you can never be said to get accustomed to it, because the blackguard loads it with a new kind of redhot needle every time and sometimes adds half a dozen redhot corkscrews. That's the gout."

Who would patronize gout after that?

The Spider and the Bee.

A correspondent of Countryside was sitting one day upon an English moor, watching a large heather spider as it crouched expectant in its web. Suddenly he saw the spider firmly grip the web with its feet and shake it with all its might. After awhile it repeated the operation, and soon the reason became apparent. Whenever a bee flew near the web the spider gave this warning signal. It did not want any such visitor. If a bee happened to get entangled in the web the spider at once cut out that part and so rid itself of its unwelcome guest. That any creature can weave a web more intricate than a fisherman's net and, moreover, that it should possess the instinct or reasoning power to put the web in the best place and there patiently await its prey suggests that the border line between instinct and reason is far from distinct.

The Word Lady.

Connected, no doubt, with the cheapening of the word "lady" has been the practical disappearance of the "gentlewoman." The distinction between the two was brought out in the seventeenth century rules of civility, which declared that "in visiting a lady it is not enough to salute her, but her gentlewoman also, if she be then present." At the beginning of the nineteenth century "one who has marked with attentive observation the late vicissitudes in kingdoms and governments and, with a precision almost prophetic, foretold what would happen" advertised in the Times his readiness to "give such advice to persons of fortune as may prove of the very utmost importance to them." "When a lady requires an interview," said the advertisement, "a gentlewoman will give her the meeting."—London Mail.

Joseph Didn't Get It.

It is related that Napoleon ordered from Breguet, the famous Paris watchmaker, a watch for his brother, Joseph, who was at the time king of Spain. The back was of blue enamel, decorated with the letter "J" in diamonds.

In 1813 Napoleon was present at a military parade when a messenger arrived bearing a brief dispatch, in which it was stated that the French army had been completely defeated at Vittoria. It was manifest that Spain was lost. Always severely practical, all that Napoleon did, after glancing at the dispatch, was to turn to his secretary and say, "Write to Breguet and tell him that I shall not want that watch."

It is believed that the watch was eventually bought by the Duke of Wellington.

Alliterative Tongue Twisters.

A novel competition was held at a very Bohemian West End club recently for the best alliterative gem that would tie the knots in the tongue of the most careful speaker. The following are some of the best of the "tongue twisters" sent in:

A growing gleam growing green.
The bleak breeze blighted the bright blossoms.
Flesh of freshly fried flying fish.

DISARMING STRIKERS AND MINE GUARDS

State Troops Get Busy In Colorado.

Denver, Col., Oct. 30.—Now in camp at Trinidad are six hundred members of the state militia and 400 more are encamped in the center of Walsenburg's trouble zone. The disarming of strikers and guards has begun, and the militiamen anticipate no resistance. Between 200 and 300 militiamen are yet to arrive. The operators claim that an attack was made on the Empire mine at Aguilar last night and that the tipple and offices of the Southwestern Fuel company were burned by strikers. Union leaders deny the attack and claim that the fire was not incendiary.

There was skirmishing at Tobasco and Berwind, in which fifty shots were fired by the strikers at mine guards. It is said that several hundred armed strikers are still scattered in the hills and canyons of the two districts.

EARLY FALL OF GRIFFITHS

Consul General at London Said to Be Slated For Removal.

Washington, Oct. 30.—It was said at the state department by an official who is in a position to know, that John L. Griffiths of Indianapolis, consul general at London, probably will "walk the plank" within a few months. It was stated, further, that there is no intention in high official circles that Mr. Griffiths shall be retained in office through the Wilson administration. Charges of political activity have been brought against him, it being alleged that, since he went to England to serve in a consular capacity, he has returned to Indiana to make speeches for the Republican ticket.

STATEMENT OF STATE FINANCES

Treasurer Reports for the Fiscal Year.

CALL FOR ADVANCE PAYMENT

Counties Have Been Called on by the State Board of Finance to Anticipate the December Settlement in Order to Pay Off That Portion of the Recent Big Loan That Was Made on a Call Basis.

Indianapolis, Oct. 30.—From the office of the treasurer of state the annual statement regarding the condition of state finances for the fiscal year ending Sept. 30, just made public, shows that the state, after borrowing $460,000 as a temporary loan, transferring $957,736.17 from the benevolent institution fund to the general fund during the year and collecting $1,601,866.58 in advance payments from counties of the state, had a balance at the close of the year in the general fund of $99,072.09.

Another advance payment call on the counties has already been made and out of the money it is expected will accrue from that call the state officials hope to pay off $60,000 of the temporary loan that was made prior to the close of the fiscal year.

The sinking fund that was paid into the state treasury during the year was not transferred to the general fund as in former years, but was used to pay off $250,000 of state debt, according to the report. A small balance remains in that fund.

A total of $429,905.22 was expended during the year for permanent improvements in state institutions.

The amount of balance in all funds left to the state at the close of the fiscal year was $378,271.07, while the balance in all funds at the close of 1912 was $339,404.62. The net receipts for the year in the general fund were $3,928,666.94, and the net disbursements from that fund for the year were $4,932,184.21.

HE HAD BEEN ILL ADVISED

Alien Thought He Safely Could Commit Forgery.

Fort Wayne, Ind., Oct. 30.—Sigmund Sroczynski, weakening and admitting his forgeries, was bound over to the circuit court on a charge of forgery. The young man, who is neat in appearance, arrived in Fort Wayne Monday, represented himself as a co-laborer of Dr. Friedmann and introduced himself as Dr. Frederick Joseph Kraus. He won his way into the good graces of the Rev. Emanuel Wrobel, pastor of St. Hyacinth's Catholic church, and got $25 from the priest on a check. Later a shoe dealer gave him a smaller sum. The young fellow, in breaking down, declared a friend in Philadelphia told him he could force checks safely and that, as an unaturalized alien, the worst fate that could befall him would be deportation from the United States.

Evansville, Ind., Oct. 30.—Mary Wright, aged eighteen, whose home is at Morganfield, Ky., was arraigned in the circuit court here on the charge of involuntary manslaughter and entered a plea of guilty. A disgruntled Italian litigant attacked Magistrate Corrigan of New York at the door of his court and bruised his head with a club.

DANIEL G. REID

Retires From Position at Head of the Rock Island Management.

New York, Oct. 30.—Daniel G. Reid has retired as chairman of the board of directors of the Chicago, Rock Island & Pacific Railway company in favor of Thomas M. Schumacher, vice president of the El Paso & Southwestern company, which is controlled by the banking firm of Phelps, Dodge & Co. Mr. Schumacher was elected to this new position at a meeting of the Rock Island directors and was also chosen chairman of the road's executive committee, succeeding W. H. Moore.

HAVE NO CONFIDENCE IN THE PROPOSITION

Mexicans Dubious Regarding Elevation of Blanquet.

Mexico City, Oct. 30.—With marked interest government circles here are awaiting the future action of President Wilson in view of the plan announced by Foreign Minister Moseno that if the new congress nullifies the election General Blanquet will take the presidency and General Huerta will take the field against the rebels and accept the nomination as candidate for the presidency at the next election.

Senor Moseno said that the government is not alarmed at the reported rising of Indians in Oaxaca and the isthmus of Tehuantepec, but that if there is an uprising in favor of Diaz it would be a serious matter, as the Americans are helping the rebels there and would no doubt give aid to the Diaz partisans.

It is reported that the rebels again have entered Monterey and taken General Trevino prisoner. In official circles it is, however, stated that General Pena is pursuing the rebels and has enabled General Trevino, who it is said was captured last week, to escape from their hands.

READY FOR INSTANT FLIGHT

Mexican Federal Troops Preparing to Evacuate Chihuahua.

El Paso, Tex., Oct. 30.—Federal troops are preparing to evacuate the city of Chihuahua, say American refugees who have arrived in Juarez aboard a "mixed" train from the southern capital. For three days five special trains, loaded with cavalry horses of the Chihuahua garrison, have been kept in readiness for instant movement, and the public tongue in the state capital says the movement will be to Juarez. Locomotives with a full head of steam night and day are attached to the trains. Pancho Villa, rebel general, is within striking distance of the city by this time.

About 5,000 men garrison Chihuahua, all federal troops in the vicinity having been ordered to mobilize there.

Villa's army numbers between 4,000 and 5,000 men, according to estimates made by members of the Constitutionalist junta in El Paso. That he intends to attack Juarez is a certainty, say rebel followers of his cause.

Youth Pleads Guilty to Robbery.

Lebanon, Ind., Oct. 30.—James Welch, seventeen years old, of Indianapolis, pleaded guilty to robbing two homes near Zionsville, and Judge Parr sentenced him to serve two to four years in the reformatory.

ordering the engine out at once, which the fire chief would have done if he had been informed by Mayor Black that the engine was to be used instead of the city pressure, he attached hose to the mains but the stream was not large enough to reach the eaves of a house.

It was the general consensus of opinion among the witnesses at this inquiry that if normal fire pressure stream had been thrown on the fire when it was first discovered, the blaze could have been extinguished with small damage. But the incompetency which was evident all along the line caused a general misconception on everything, with the result that the fire gained such headway that it could not be stopped.

True, there was only between seven and a half and ten feet of water in the reservoir during the time of the fire, but that put on at fire pressure would most certainly have extinguished the blaze, in the opinion of those who first saw it.

And how did the water escape? No one will ever know because the person who is at fault will never confess his mistake, but this is only another link in inefficient management at the plant. At the time of the fire the Democratic administration men tried, by sly and evasive replies, to shoulder the blame for the escape of water the Friday night before the fire on to the shoulders of a former employ of the plant. They could mean only one man, because of their animosity for that man, but they did not have the nerve to place the charge squarely and openly because they had no foundation for it.

The water escaped, that there is none to deny. Such a thing never happened before in the history of the plant. In the light of recent developments which have proved the inability of the present management to cope with the problems of operating the plant, it is not amiss, since no explanation has been offered, that some one is responsible who did not know what to do or did the wrong thing. The water could not leave the reservoir without being released. There is no proof that any one opened the water gates for revenge. Some misjudgment neglect or mistake is responsible.

And why should we not be allowed to infer that a mistake was made in this case since mistakes have been made in other instances? After the fire Mr. Brown, the superintendent, asked how he should know whether the fire was a chicken house or a business block. After four alarms it seems that it should have been his duty to learn when the safety of the homes and business houses in Rushville were in his hands.

But allowing all this, had the machinery of the water and light plant been in perfect condition, as it should be and has been under efficient management, there would have been no trouble in placing a fire pressure on the mains when the fire broke out. Excuse after excuse was offered for not placing the fire pressure. It was stated first that the pumps would not lift the water when the water was as low as it was the morning of the fire but this was disproved. The next excuse was that one of the fire pumps lost its priming and the engineer in charge could not prime it, when in reality the two pumps are there so that when one loses its priming the other may be used to prime it.

The real reason may be found in the fact that the fire pumps were out of repair. Henry Gregg, who was called to the plant a few days after the fire to repair the fire pumps, testified at the investigation that one of the pumps was leaking about half of all the water it pumped, the other about a third.

This is the way the plant has been operated. Procrastination has been practiced, as was done in the case of obtaining repairs for the river water pump, until the whole plant has fallen into disrepair. All these things conspired to bring about the catastrophe which befell the city when the two buildings burned down. All of the things show plainly the inability of the present management to meet the problems that come up at the plant.

Even now, after the lesson that has been taught the administration, the same reckless disregard for the property of Rushville is common practice. There are very few patrons in Rushville who do not know that many nights in the last few months there has been no water in their homes. When this condition exists, there can be but one conclusion, that is that there is no water in the mains.

In case of fire under such a circumstance the catastrophe of the summer would be repeated. Only the next time it might be much worse. It takes two hours to fill the mains. What a chance a fire would have! Yet it is a well established fact that the mains have been dry several nights recently.

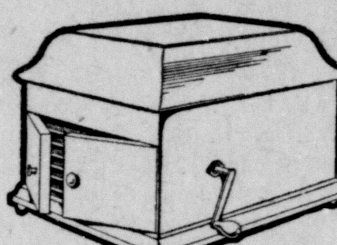

And, too, Mr. Water consumer, you should remember that when the mains are drained, the water runs into the sewer and is lost. Yet you are not allowed to have water for sprinkling your streets. When there is a fire there is not enough water to protect your homes, but at the same time there is enough of the precious water that thousands of gallons of it can be allowed to flow into the sewer after money has been used in pumping it and forcing it into the plant.

Is it any wonder that the insurance companies intend to double the insurance rates here if the evils at the water and light plant are not corrected? The present administration has had opportunity to attempt to correct them, but there has not been one step in that direction. Rather, there has been a wanton disregard for the rights of the citizens of Rushville.

Amusements

The Princess will show a Vitagraph comedy featuring John Bunny and Lillian Walker for the first picture tonight. It is entitled "Those Troublesome Tresses." The other is an Essanay drama entitled "The Whip Hand." Francis X. Bushman is featured in this picture.

The Gem will show a Crystal comedy "Pearl and the Tramp" for the first picture tonight. The second is a comedy "Her Tutors." The last is a thrilling western drama entitled "The Animal."

William A. Bray will produce Marian de Forest's dramatization of Louisa M. Alcott's "Little Women" at the Murat Theatre, Indianapolis, next week.

Sweet, simple, quaint, refreshing in this story of a half century ago, and the play is as charming as the book. A series of home pictures, bringing very close to those who know how and love the story of old friends from out the covers of a book (which is today listed from the World's best sellers) into the larger, more intimate life of the stage.

For the first three acts of the play, a replica of the Bronsin Alcott sitting room in Concord has been used, every detail complete, even to the dish of apples which Grandma Alcott always insisted upon having on the living room table. It was in this room that the story of "Little Women" was lived. What more fitting than to use it for the stage picture. For the fourth act the Plumfield apple orchard is shown in all the golden glory of an October afternoon, veritable harvest home, in which is brought to happy fulfillment the romance of the Alcott family. The Alcotts have kept through all these years many of the identical costumes and properties used by the Alcott girls for their home-made plays, and these will be used in the production, including Jo's boots, which she "got from a lady who had a friend who knew an actor."

All the principal incidents of the story will be found in the dramatic version. It is a faithful reproduction of the life of the four girls carrying them through girlhood and young womanhood, bringing to each the consummation of her life romance, just as Miss Alcott described it in her book.

How to SELL Things That Are "FOR SALE"

Write your "For Sale" ad SIMPLY stating ever detail about the article that you would want an ad to give if you were anxious to buy something of the kind yourself. Give a little thought to the "selling points" about the article, and put THEM into your ad. Then run the ad MORE THAN ONCE, if that is necessary. It may or may not be.

WILSON FACING DIFFICULT TASK

Europe Apparently Trying to Force Intervention.

DISSATISFIED WITH POSITION

Washington Government's Attitude Toward the Increasingly Difficult Situation of Affairs in Mexico Has Been Made the Subject of Some Remarkably Frank Statements on the Part of the Diplomatic Corps.

London, Oct. 30.—The attitude toward the proposals of the United States regarding Mexico is not yet known here, but it is thought that the powers will readily entrust the maintenance of order to the United States.

Washington, Oct. 30.—From intimations received here from Mexico City it is believed that General Blanquet will be declared vice president and will succeed Huerta, the latter reverting to his old post as head of the army and thus becoming eligible for election to the presidency.

The administration has been informed that the diplomatic corps in Mexico City is unanimous in the opinion that only intervention by the United States can save Mexico and that such drastic action is inevitable. Europeans express dissatisfaction with existing conditions and the attitude of the United States. The president's note to the powers announcing his new policy in Mexico probably will be delayed until Huerta has declared the result of the election.

It was admitted that the three powers responding to the request of the United States to withhold action until the president's policy is announced have given no indication of their intention to join the United States in antagonism to Huerta or in repudiation of the election results. Secretary Bryan responded favorably to the French request for a warship to protect French citizens in danger in Sinaloa, but has not asked the navy department to take any steps toward affording such protection. Admiral Fletcher was instructed to put General Felix Diaz and his companions on the first steamer leaving Vera Cruz for Cuba or the United States, as they may prefer.

The substitution of General Blanquet, Huerta's right-hand man, for the latter in the president's chair looms up as considerably more than a probability. Inasmuch as the administration has strong feelings of repugnance for Blanquet, this outcome will not be regarded as agreeable by the administration in Washington.

The change will make it possible for Huerta to become eligible for election to the presidency without giving up his absolute hold on Mexico in the interim, because it is the understanding that if he steps down in favor of Blanquet he will revert to his old position of commander-in-chief of the Mexican army. This office under existing conditions and when held by such a person as General Huerta, carries with it virtual rule over Mexico, especially if the presidency is filled by a man as subservient to Huerta as General Blanquet is supposed to be. The shift is expected to come about by means of a declaration that the Huerta-Blanquet ticket received the most votes in the elections held Sunday and that a sufficient number of precincts were heard from to make the election valid. The Huerta votes will be declared null and void because of the constitutional prohibition against a provisional president succeeding himself in the presidency. The prohibition invoked against Huerta does not apply, however, according to the announcement of Minister of Foreign Affairs Moseno, to the vice presidency, so that Blanquet can be declared elected to that office.

The seriousness of the American position in regard to Mexico was clearly indicated when it became known how frankly representatives of European governments in Mexico have expressed themselves. President Wilson for some time has known that it was the consensus of opinion among the diplomatic corps of Mexico City, the American charge only excepted, that armed intervention by the United States is not only inevitable, but that it is the only means by which the situation can be remedied.

Just how dissatisfied are the European and other governments with the course of the United States also is known to President Wilson as a result of the exchanges which have taken place in Mexico City. It was admitted at the state department that the request of President Wilson to all governments interested in Mexico to defer action in Mexico until they had heard from him was for the purpose of heading off anticipated action by them. In the light of information about what has been going on in the diplomatic corps in Mexico City it is believed that President Wilson will have a difficult task offering a program short of intervention which will satisfy the other governments, inasmuch as their official representatives in Mexico already have expressed forcibly their belief in the inevitableness and desirability of Americans stepping in.

The convention of the American Federation of Labor will meet in Seattle next month.

STOMACH SUFFERERS

Mayr's Wonderful Stomach Remedy Is Recommended and Praised by Thousands Who Have Been Restored

"I was a sick man for a better than a month, caused from Gall Stones of the Liver and was told by three of our most prominent physicians that I would have to submit to an operation to get relief, but heard of your Wonderful Stomach Remedy and secured a full treatment and took it according to directions and passed hundreds of Gall Stones. Since taking your medicine I work regularly and don't feel any ill effects. I am praising your Remedy to all my friends. I think it's worthy of the highest praise. B. L. DOOLEY Roanoke, Va." Sufferers of Stomach, Liver and Intestinal ailments are not asked to take Mayr's Wonderful Stomach Remedy for weeks and months before they feel benefited. Just try one dose—which should make you feel better in health, convince you that you will soon be well and strong, free you from pain and suffering and give you a sound and healthy Stomach, as it has done in thousands of other cases. Wherever it is taken you will hear nothing but the highest praise. Go to your druggist—ask him about the great results it has been accomplishing in cases of people he knows or send to Geo. H. Mayr, Mfg. Chemist, 154-156 Whiting St., Chicago, Ill., for a free book on Stomach Ailments and many grateful letters from people who have been restored.

Some Names. Surnames are not what they seem. For instance, Lind is derived from a Teutonic word meaning a "snake." The apparently quiet and harmless surname Wren comes from a word which denotes "rapine." Fish, though such an innocent name in appearance, originally meant "impetuous."

Easy Problem. A negro wished to deposit some money in the postal savings bank and the clerk asked his age. "Well, boss," he replied, "I don't know jus' how old I is, but I was born in March an' you kin count it up for yo'self."—Everybody's.

COLD WAVE IS A BIG FIZZLE

On Top of All of the Predictions of Severe Weather Comes One of Higher Temperature.

LITTLE SNOW MAY FALL YET

Said Wave is Disbanded But May Recoup its Forces and Return at a Later Date.

The weather man, it seems, was only kidding. He didn't mean it when he said a real cold wave was coming. The forecast that Indiana was to suffer some "spell" of weather was given out for a joke. It took and now the weather man is explaining.

Today he took the people into his confidence and told them that the cold wave had come and gone, and it seems that no one recognized it quickly enough to say "Hello." The freezing temperature last night was just a taste for future reference.

The cold wave is now disbanded. The time on the western circuit was not a success, so it was thought best to break up the organization and not attempt to present the drama "Winter" in Indiana yet. Part of the cold wave has gone east and may recoup its forces and return at a later date.

Out west it is warming up decidedly, and little heat units are moving this way. Today was expected to continue at about the same temperature at which it started. The forecast was for cloudy tonight and Friday, fair, with not much change in temperature. The weather man elaborated on his formal prediction and said it would be cool and crisp, and that after tomorrow warmer weather would prevail. Probable snow flurries in the extreme north part of the state were predicted for tonight.

The crest of the cold wave reached Indiana yesterday afternoon at 4 o'clock, when the mercury dropped to 30 degrees. It rose to 31 by 7 o'clock, and climbed gradually from then on. The weather bureau reported it was snowing today at Ft. Wayne, Chicago, Toledo, Dubuque, Ia., and Davenport.

CONVENTION OF SUNDAY SCHOOLS

Annual Meeting of Rush County Association Will be Held Here November 15.

IT OPENS NIGHT BEFORE

The Sunday schools of Rush county will hold a county convention in Rushville Nov. 15. The meeting will begin on the evening of the 14th with an address on "What the Sunday School Stands For," by George N. Burnie, state secretary of the Indiana Sunday School association. All the Sunday schools of the county are urged to send representatives to this meeting as the county should be well organized before the golden jubilee convention, which will be held in Indianapolis June 16, 17, and 18, 1914.

Now is the time for all of the Sunday schools to rally for good work during the winter months, it is advocated. Is your Sunday school all that it should be? If not come to the convention to learn how to do better work and get inspiration, the officers urge. If your school is an ideal one, come and tell others how you accomplished the desired end and thus give others your counsel and inspiration, the announcement of the convention says.

Let every school in the county prepare for the convention by appointing delegates at once and getting ready your report, the officers request.
